BACK!!!!

Back in Uruguay

The best way to start this letter is by stating our gratitude to God, to our family, to our friends, to our sending church and to our supporting network. God opened doors that no man could have opened. The rest of you have shown love, elevated prayers and many words of encouragement towards our family. Your constant love and support allowed us to remain focused on our return while we were "stranded" in the US for over 6 months.

After a long 24 trip we were welcomed by BBFI Missionary, dad, father in law and specially grandpa Jesse. Our parents have been nothing but a blessing preparing a place for us that took several weeks of work. You cannot repay love the way that they deserve. I pray that God will bless them in a mighty way for all their effort, planning and the arrangement of our two bedroom apartment that we will call home until the house is ready to be occupied. One hard fact has been to wait two more weeks to be with the people, but it is coming up soon. #BackinUruguay

7 More Days...

Today has been a week since our arrival to Uruguay and that also marks half of our mandatory quarantine.

It is very humbling to know that people love and care for us. Almost every day someone asks if there is something they can bring, whether it is food or something from a store.

We have been online shoppers and the supermarket delivers to our front door. That I will consider and advantage to leave in a pretty techie country.

Now this quarantine is a challenge because it is not the first or second time for us. Sometimes we have to have some family talks about spending time together, goals, how to entertain ourselves and how not to drive each other insane.

The quarantine will end, we are glad we survived a trip from the US in a healthy manner and we are praying that once we get out we will challenge people to follow Jesus. That is why we are here for.

Just 7 more days...

HOW CAN YOU COMMUNICATE WITH US?

WhatsApp, Facebook, Facetime Zoom are different ways to stay connected with our family. Whether it is a personal call or a zoom meeting we will always be excited to hear from you! We have new local phone numbers so please feel free to send us a private message and we will share our number with you.

Today I had an hour conversation over the phone with my Buddhist friend Daniel. He called me because he had a difficult week. His youngest son Lautaro (who plays flag football with our boys) needs a major surgery. On top of this he got laid off last month and also he had an accident and ended with several stitches in his hands. We talked about life, suffering and prayer. Please add Daniel, Silvana & Lautaro to your prayer list.
