As you can see, God has given us a precious group of people who are in the work force and in the academic world. My prayer is that they will encounter God, accept the salvation that He provides through Jesus and that they will walk together.

Returning Home: Church Post Covid

Because of the known situation with Covid, we have not been able to gather as a church since the second week of December. We have been patiently waiting on the Uruguayan government to give the green light to meet again. This is actually happening this upcoming Sunday! We are excited but what is greater is the fact that several people who have been watching online are planning to attend the service. Nothing equates the experience of corporate worship, to share the Word of God and to let the Holy Spirit talk to us when we are together. We are ready to come together to glorify His name and to present the Gospel to some new visitors who are not believers. We have called this service "Returning Home" and we are ready to meet God the Father as a body of believers. We are praying for souls saved and commitments to God to be renewed. It has been a long wait.

I'm too old for this!

Sometimes God blindsides you with a surprise and you get the thought like "are you sure you want me to do this?". That is how we feel about our new role in charge of the youth ministries at our church. We had our first activity with 18 young people who ranged in age from 15 to 25. "Pizza Fest" was the excuse. A pizza competition. I had the privilege to preach the Gospel and we followed up with several new contacts. As a result of this role and the conversation with some after this event, I am starting discipleship with Nahuel Rodriguez. He grew up at the church but now as a university student, he finds himself realizing the lack of Bible knowledge. I am excited about starting this class with him. That Friday we had 14 kids at our home after the event. They stayed until 2:30 AM. By the time we took several home, we ended up going to bed after 3:30 AM. I am too old for this! But we are ready to start investing in the lives of several young men and young women.
